Auburn Hills, MICH. (01. October 2020)

Brose North America U.S. headquarters, New Boston plant and Jefferson plant are named three of Metro Detroit's Best and Brightest Companies to work for in 2020. This award celebrates companies that distinguish themselves as having the most innovative and thoughtful human resources approach. The three Brose locations were selected by an independent research firm that evaluates each company in various categories, including compensation and benefits; employee engagement and retention; recruitment, diversity and inclusion; work-life balance and community initiatives.

"Our people are our greatest asset at Brose and I am consistently impressed by the diverse and capable individuals who innovate products and processes to lead our organization to success," said Wilm Uhlenbecker, President and Chief Executive Officer, Brose North America. "At Brose, every employee is treated as family and this award, in recognition of a culture that has been carefully cultivated and protected, is rewarding. However, we realize, like many others right now, that there is more that can be done. We are energized by this honor as we look toward our future and take active steps to continue to nurture a safe, inclusive and equitable workplace for all employees."

In 2018 and 2019, the three same Brose locations earned a Top Workplaces award from The Detroit Free Press.

In addition to hosting more than 300 training programs annually, a number of new programs have been implemented across Brose's Michigan locations to support the company's focus on career development and talent retention. Recently, the Brose Skills Matrix launched, an online training system that identifies skills gaps in real-time on a regional level.

"Developing effective and inclusive employee training is critical to Brose's success and the success of the communities in which Brose operates within," said Lisa Basila, Vice President Human Resources Brose North America. "From the very top, there is a strong commitment to high quality programming to drive forward the workforce of tomorrow."

About Best and Brightest
