

Award for Michael Stoschek

Michael Stoschek (left), Chairman of the Brose Group, accepted the Bavarian Family Business Owner 2014 prize for innovation from Ingo Friedrich, former Vice President of the European Parliament, at the former gasworks in Augsburg.

Augsburg (02. June 2014).

The Chairman of the Brose Group, Michael Stoschek, has received the Bavarian Family Business Owner of the Year award in the innovation category. The award is presented once a year by "Die Familienunternehmer", an association that represents the interests of family-owned companies in Germany. The award recognizes the tireless efforts of outstanding entrepreneurs in their regions. Candidates are nominated by members of the association and a panel of judges selects the winners. Michael Stoschek was chosen over 30 other nominees for the innovation prize. The judges praised the "constant inventive talent and pioneering spirit with which he consistently drives progress in the automotive supply industry".
